FUNDED RESEARCH

PRINCIPAL INVESTIGATOR

Social Network and Contextual Influences on HIV Risk and Substance Abuse among YMSM
National Institute of Drug Abuse
Grant No. 1F31DA031648 - 01
Duration of the study: 4/2011 – 6/2012 Total cost: $43,947

This study uses a mixed-methods approach to examine social networks of young men who have sex with men (YMSM) in Los Angeles County. Data from the NIDA-funded "Healthy Young Men" (HYM) Study will be used to identify patterns in the social networks of YMSM and the social contexts where YMSM gather. Qualitative methodologies will be used to supplement quantitative findings to better understand the features of social contexts associated with varying levels of risk. Study findings will be used to inform the development of new or tailoring of existing interventions that target the social contexts that may be most conducive to the uptake of YMSM substance use and HIV prevention interventions.

PRINCIPAL INVESTIGATOR

A Comparative Analysis of Parent, Child and Family level Outcomes between Adoptive Families with Gay, Lesbian and Bisexual Parents and Families with Heterosexual Parents
Williams Institute Small Research Grant Program
University of California, Los Angeles
Duration of the study: 6/2008 – 12/2008 Total cost: $5,000

This study compares parent, child and family outcomes in adoptive families headed by gay, lesbian and bisexual (GLB) parents with those of adoptive families headed by straight parents. Secondary data from a national random sample of 1,196 adoptive families was analyzed. This research helps to inform federal, state and local policies designed to increase permanency GLB adoptive families and provide support to GLB families with adopted children.
