

The Los Angeles County Commission on HIV and the UCLA Center for HIV Identification, Prevention, and Treatment Services invites you to attend

Numbers You Can't Ignore: Determinants and Disparities Among Asian & Pacific Islanders

Presented by

Jury Candelario, Division Director, Asian Pacific AIDS Intervention Team
Alisi Tulua, Program Manager, Empowering Pacific Islander Communities
Dan Ichinose, Project Director, Asian Americans Advancing Justice
Terry Gock, PhD, MPA, Director of Pacific Clinics (invited)

Thursday, July 10, 2014

9:30am to 10:30am*

St. Anne's Maternity Home

Foundation Conference Room
155 N. Occidental Boulevard
Los Angeles, CA 90026

Asians and Pacific Islanders (APIs) are often categorized as a "single racial group" that shares the same culture, values, and experiences. In reality, API encompasses over 50 distinct racial/ethnic groups, in which more than 30 different languages are spoken. Reports of Asian Pacific success often focuses on major populations that have been in the United States for many generations, rendering the issues of smaller and less established API groups invisible. Members of community organizations serving API clients have gathered data (broken down by nationality) about the API community to bring attention to the social determinants that puts this population at increased risk for HIV/STI and to advocate for more accessible, affordable HIV related services that are culturally- and linguistically- appropriate for APIs.

*as part of the Commission on HIV meeting agenda. No registration required.

LOS ANGELES COUNTY
COMMISSION ON HIV

