Attending

Objectives:
- to increase the amount of positive attention provided to the child, even if the child has misbehaved at other times during the day
- to teach the caregiver to attend to positive behaviors
- to promote the child’s sense of self-worth

Steps:

- Provide rationale
  - Emphasize the importance of providing positive attention to the child.
  - Elicit the caregiver’s opinion about how attention affects behavior and people’s motivation to do a good job.
  - Have the caregiver describe his or her best and worst “managers” and the caregiver’s motivation to work for each.
  - Lead the caregiver to recognize that how he or she was treated affected the caregiver’s desire to work.
  - Discuss how the child’s behavior may be affected by the caregiver’s behavior towards the child and how the child’s desire to behave can be increased by improving the caregiver-child relationship.

- Set aside one-on-one time for caregiver and child
  - Encourage the caregiver to set aside a block of time (e.g., 10 minutes) each day devoted to joining the child in an activity the child has chosen.

- Teach caregiver to provide positive and descriptive commentary
  - Show the caregiver how to demonstrate sincere interest in the child’s activities while they are playing.
  - Instruct the caregiver to provide enthusiastic descriptive (e.g., “You are drawing a tree”) and/or positive (e.g., “I like the way you stacked the blocks”) commentary and praise regarding the child’s behavior.

- Encourage caregiver to engage in child’s activity
  - Suggest that the caregiver become actively involved in the play activity by imitating the child’s behavior in order to demonstrate approval.

- Restrict criticism, questions, and commands
  - It is important that the child lead the activity; that is, the caregiver should refrain from making suggestions, asking questions, and criticizing the child.
  - Allow the child to use his or her imagination (e.g., coloring the green or making up new rules to a game) without caregiver input about the “correct” way to do things.

- Anticipate difficulties
  - When the procedure is initially implemented, the child may engage in negative behavior that characterizes the usual caregiver-child interaction. When this occurs, the caregiver should:
    - consistently ignore negative behavior by looking away;
    - refrain from scolding the child so as to avoid providing negative attention for misbehavior;
    - end one-to-one time if disruptive behavior continues or is dangerous.
  - Over time, however, it is expected that consistent positive attending will result in decreased negative behavior and increased positive caregiver-child interactions.
Helpful Tips:

- Remember to praise often
- Remember to review often, by asking questions
- Brief any other caregivers, teachers, or other adult figures who may be involved
- Simplify these steps if you have to
- This material can be covered in more than one session/meeting
